Balmoral Hall

RESIDENTIAL AND DAY SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

NURSERY SCHOOL THROUGH GRADE XII

In 1950, from the amalgamation of Rupert's Land Girls School and Riverbend School for Girls, came Balmoral Hall. To guide the school on its road to success was Miss G. Murrell-Wright, Headmistress from 1950 to 1966.

In Canada's Centennial year, 1967, a new Headmistress entered the family of Balmoral Hall. Dr. H. M. Perry served her term of five years, devotedly and enthusiastically.

Changing the pattern in 1973, Mr. R. Martin Kenney was appointed as Headmaster. Mr. Kenney had been associated with a boys' school for many years. His perseverance and determination led to an overflowing number of pupils in each grade.

After a short term of three years, Mr. Kenney moved on to assist another institution and Balmoral Hall ended its Twenty-fifth Anniversary Year welcoming Mr. N. Thomas Russell in 1976.

As another school year rapidly approaches we bid farewell to the Kenney family. Mr. Kenney has made history in Balmoral Hall because of his desire for perfection. Balmoral Hall has developed in all areas due to the hard work and many extensive hours put in by the Kenneys, the staff and students.

However we must look onward to the future. In our every changing world even a school must conform to the era. With our new Headmaster continued success will be achieved.

The purpose of the yearbook is to relate to the staff, students, alumnae and friends the success we strive for in the future and the accomplished success in the past.

The production of this book has been anything but simple and due to the help of Mrs. Kenney and Mrs. Gardiner the Optima Anni '76 was completed. Due to the fact that it is the school's Twenty-fifth anniversary I dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Kenney not just for her help and guidance this year, but for the previous years in which she laboured all summer.

I do hope everyone will find a memorable corner in this yearbook to make it extra special.

Headmaster's Report

This year I share with the graduates the prospect of leaving BH for new challenges and experiences. We all do so, of course, with mixed emotions. Balmoral Hall is a wonderful place to work and to play and grow. Time and time again many visitors to our school have remarked to me that they can feel the happy relaxed yet productive atomosphere exuding throughout the classrooms, gymnasiums, hallways and every nook and cranny of the school. They are right! They are correct in their assessment of the feeling in our school. But why do we have such an atmosphere?

Well we have comfortable, clean and more than adequate buildings. These buildings are located on a very beautiful piece of riverside property which, particularly during the spring term with the trees in full bloom, is a beautiful place indeed. But of course, the answer as to the question "why" is the fact that our school is filled with wonderful people. It is not an exaggeration to say that every employee of this school is concerned with the welfare of the school and of each individual student in attendance. Kitchen staff, cleaning staff, office staff, teachers, residential supervisory staff, all work towards a common end. The creation of an environment in which each and every girl can develop her personality to its full potential. You students, of course, have made a tremendous contribution by maintaining cooperative, enthusiastic, and positive attitudes towards your learning experiences at B.H. We are also blessed with the background workers. Our Board of Governors, parents, (particularly our Mother's Auxiliary) and friends of the school who work tirelessly raising funds for bursaries, scholarships and other purposes. Without such efforts any independent school would be the poorer.

Next year Balmoral Hall will have waiting lists at all grade levels and an enrolment of around three hundred students. I can honestly state that there is not a better independent residential and day school for girls in this country. All of the above components of our school family have made this possible.

As you are well aware, our family now moves on to another challenge in Saskatchewan. We will be living in the little prairie village of Wilcox thirty miles south of Regina, on Highway 6. If any of you find yourselves in our vicinity in the future please come and visit with us. On our part we will keep very close track of Balmoral Hall and the many wonderful people we have met over the past three years.

In closing let me wish the very best of good fortune in the future to all of our graduates of the 1976 school year.

Remember "He who does what in him lies God will not deny His grace."

R. M. Kenney Headmaster

Board of Governors Report

The past year has been a time of significant accomplishment for Balmoral Hall. After several years of adjustment the School returned to a solid footing as witnessed by a capacity enrolment and improved academic standards. While both students and staff have contributed to this success, much of the credit must go to Martin and Lynne Kenney who have worked with so much dedication. It is therefore with regret that we must now say farewell to them as they leave for their new venture with Notre Dame College in Wilcox, Saskatchewan. I extend best wishes to them on behalf of us all.

To the Graduates, we also say farewell and best wishes. They leave us with the gift of a fine education and the skills to play an active role in Canadian society. Fortunately, many opportunities are now available for young women in business, government and the professions. All that is required is a desire and willingness to work hard in pursuing one's goals. I am confident each will live up to the Balmoral motto, Meliora Petens.

To those remaining to complete their education, next year will mark the start of a new era. We are most fortunate to have Mr. Thomas Russell as our new Headmaster. He brings with him many years of experience in the field of independent school education and the Board of Governors has every confidence he will make a major contribution to the life of the School. I know all of you will welcome the Russells and give them strong support and co-operation in their new endeavour. In doing so you will help ensure that Balmoral Hall will become an even greater institution.

My Last Request

As time goes on and night draws near;
I sit at my work table with nothing but fear.
I walk to my room,
with nothing but gloom,
and sit on my bed
with a heavy head.
I lifted my quill, and wrote my will. To whom it may concern Now I lay me down to sleep My undone homework at my feet. If I should die before I wake, These last requests I have to make. Lay my french by my feet, Tell Mdm. Damerman its got me beat. Lay my history by my leg Tell Mrs. Sharpe its got me pegged. Lay my math at my toe, Tell Mrs. Alcock I'm just too slow. Lay my Lit by my bed, Tell Mrs. Friesen poetry is dead. Lay my science by my side, Tell Mrs. Moenig: That's why I died!!!

Headgirl and School Captain Report

Both Margo and I agree that this year, without a doubt, has been one of the most enjoyable and funfilled years in our school's existence. The coffee house and dance were a great success not to mention our supporters who faithfully restored our gyms to their original states. The welcomed canteen proved to be greatly appreciated, along with the jackets, rings, T - shirts, buttons and more.

This year Margo raised more money than any other Head Girl I know of and left our coffers quite complete for next year's students. Our Student Council also deserves a round of applause for their never failing ideas and spirit.

With all the fund raising, social activities, the school spirit has risen one hundred percent.
Remember though, to keep Balmoral on top we need everyone's consideration and cooperation.

How can we sum up a whole year into a few lines? Well firstly you recall the many good times and few bad times. Margo and I wish to thank you all for the experience gained, friendships won and success achieved.

Next year can be even better for everyone if we all try to do our share. No one expects miracles, but a little help and cooperation goes a long way.

A thank you to all . . . Have a good summer and see you all soon!

Love,

Margo and Liz

Graduates '76

MASAMI ISHIKAWA 1975 - '76

Masami joined us this year from Japan. She endeared herself to us with her English/Japanese Dictionary. By underlining words we could understand what she was trying to say. Our Japanese Math bomb could figure out anything Mrs. Sabbadini gave her, and then she proceeded to argue the answer with the rest of the class. We soon learned however, that she was always right and we shouldn't argue with her. Masami ventured west at Easter and had an experience at an aquarium that she won't forget - so she tells us. Masami plans to attend Red River next year and take Computer Technology. Best of luck - we'll be thinking of you!

LAUREN GERVAIS (MISSING) 1973 - '76

Academically Lauren was a star, a little tarnished but a star! Joy's ace accomplice could be found doing her essays ten minutes before they were due, and studying was unheard of. We all wondered if Lauren's dressmaker ever did finish that kilt, because she was easily recognized in baggy B. H. plaids. Friendly and funny, Lauren was always laughing and rarely worrying and added much to the Grade 12 class. Lauren's future doesn't appear to lie in books but in her camera. Good luck and may all your pictures turn out!

MUI WONG 1975 - '76

Quiet, easy going, and hard working describes Wong. Her real name, Mui was soon forgotten as we all knew her by "Wong." Hailing from Hong Kong she spent one year at B.H. Our piano playing friend must have been happy here, for she was constantly singing in class. She was usually quiet, sitting and watching the escapades of the Grade 12 class. We knew she was there however, when we heard that chuckle of hers. She spent one term in residence and the rest of the year at her apartment. Wong is planning to go into Music at U. of M. Good-bye Wong, and don't forget us . . . we won't forget you!

SHIRLEY SUMMERS 1975 - '76

Essays, tests, and projects may have put a damper on things for us but Shirley kept on laughing. Coming from Thompson she spent one year at B.H. Shirley kept constant tabs on the nearest holiday. She could be found counting off the days at Squires until she would return home. Shirley became an expert on crutches and getting people to carry her books, this year because of a broken ankle. We were never quite sure just what she did. Her short socks made her well known around the school. We'll never forget them. Shirley plans to go into nursing next year. Have fun and think of us every once in awhile!

BARB DEMCHUK 1975 - '76

A newcomer from Benito (where?) Barb graced our hallowed halls. A compulsive sunflower seed eater, she could often be found in mounds of shells but always neat and proper. Well organized and never late Barb found her way into the hearts of our teachers. As head of Glen Gairn, she often threw her hands up in despair and headed to Squires instead of Mrs. Harper's House Games! Early to bed and early to rise wasn't one of Barb's strong points, but who else do we know that paints their toenails when they're sick! As the true, loyal Ukranian she is, Barb would rather fight than switch - which added spice to many a Geography class. Hope you make it to the Ukraine. Lots of luck in the future Barb!

MARGOT BRIDGETT 1974 - '76

Quiet, studious, and well liked, our Head girl made brave attempts to keep us dignified in the tradition of B.H. But as the old saying goes, if you can't beat 'em join 'em, and when she did Margot added her vitality to make our year even better. As Head of Residence Margot was often seen at 10:45 playing postman. The sight of Margot late again with the mail lifted many a lonely heart. Punctuality did not prove to be one of her strong points. But with Margot's marks, who needs to be on time? Hailing from Brandon, Margot attended B.H. for two years. Margot will be missed next year good luck always!!

JANET MURDOCH 1975 - '76

Janet's face will be missed next year at Balmoral Hall. As everyone knows, she had a problem at the beginning of the year. She soon solved it and according to her the good guy won out. She was known around the school for all her presents: an opal, a dozen roses, a Raggedy Anne, a hope chest where did you get them all from anyway? You could find Janet on Mondays and Wednesdays fighting for Ballater and yelling: "What do I do now?" She was notorious for conversations and if one wasn't going on she'd start one with her nearest neighbour. Weekends were the highlight of her life for she would plan the next one on Sunday night when she had just returned. As honors student, she hopes to take Business Administration at Red River next year. Good luck Jan and we'll miss ya!

JANE DENNIS 1970 - '76

Jane Dennis, having attended B.H. for five years, has "bounced her basketball" into the hearts of everyone. Short but sweet, our Jane took her esteemed position as Sports Captain very seriously; whenever the urge hit her. Any unsuspecting student who had a desire to do "laps" needed only to catch Jane at a bad moment and sure enough fifty or more could be arranged. But as well as her prefect's cord, Jane wore a cloak of friendship and kindness and could always be depended upon for a sympathetic ear. Rarely unhappy and always up to some kind of mischief, Jane will be missed! Though I'm sure B.H. can never really lose a student like Jane because her spirit and enthusiasm live on. Good luck and best wishes Iane from us all!

CHARMIAN PROVIS 1974 - '76

Charmian came to us last year from S.J.R. We soon found out that her presence was an asset to our class. As the accident - prone person of our group, she could fall over or off anything. This lead to several minor mishaps throughout the year. The linguist of our class found herself writing fourteen page French essays when she hadn't read the book. Head of Craig Gowan she busied herself with co-ordinating and helping a house to get points. Quiet and demure are two adjectives that describe our youngest member of Grade 12.

Her smile and kind word were known throughout the school. Charmian was an honour student this year but her future as of yet is undecided. We know she will be a credit to whatever field she chooses. Good-bye, good luck and remember we'll always be proud of you!

JOY TENNANT 1963 - '76

Joy, a true blue B.H. er from the word go, go, go. Joy in her Grade Twelve year has proved to be a real "gopher". The most dramatic experience for Joy was the death of Weasel - "the get -a-way car". Joy could often be seen getting away destination unknown. Those of us on t floor never asked - we were too busy praying. The great delight of Joy's life is music. If she wasn't doing her hemi-demi-semi quavers she was freaking out to "fame" in the common room. Joy's locker proved to be a point to ponder, how did she ever find anything? One of the "Joys" of mornings in the B.H. common room was watching Joy devour her lunch for breakfast. Where does she put it all? Keep in touch in the future Joy, we'll all miss you.

Leaving

I was shaking ever so slightly as I started down the long aisle before me. I looked into the island of faces that seemed to blur into one. My last day at B.H. - the realization of it hit me hard.

I looked at the pew to my left and remembered fidgeting there five years ago. Then, the ceremony had seemed long and boring, without much meaning. Today, it meant everything to me.

My mind started to wander back into the past five years at Balmoral Hall. I laughed to myself remembering in Grade 7 how we hid in our lockers, hiding from House Games. Then there was Grade 8 when our class was known as "The Mafia." We used to be terrors, having air raids and rolling apples down the aisle during class. In Grade 9, our class flooded the school. They never did catch us! Grade 10, what had happened then? The ski trip to Thunder Bay, and being locked in the wrong room at 2:00 in the morning. Joy, Lauren and I had done an experiment incorrectly in Grade 11 Chem. Class and had almost become unconscious. And all the cruise talk. We relived that cruise 30 times, at least. Then, there was this year! Being "mature" Grade 12's. Somehow pushing Ianet down the hall on Mrs. Sures' chem, stool didn't seem too mature were on the verge of entering the world but yet we were all so young. So many things to experience and so little time in which to do it in. A year in which we were expected to develop our skills of the past 11 years while we were finding ourselves as individuals.

I numbly shook hands and took my diploma. I knew that I would return to B.H. but it would never be the same. For I would be an outsider; an "old girl". I realized that my school days were only times to reminisce about.

Friends

Why in this world are there so few true friends? There are many people who are beautiful in their own way. But I suppose that the world is a big jigsaw puzzle making some people fit together better than others. How I long for a true friend, someone who I can trust and she can trust me. Someone who speaks to me honestly and I know everything, nothing is hidden, nothing is rigid. I have met many people - some are a different shape of puzzle, others almost make a perfect match. When I am old and gray, who will I remember? Someone who I can cherish forever as we both know each other as true friends.

A Friend

A friend is one who is always there, to lend a helping hand. In times of trouble he will care, beside you he will stand. He cheers you up when you are down, and shares your hopes and dreams. He makes a smile out of a frown, and brightens life, it seems. The world would be a dismal place, without a single friend. Days would crawl by at the snail's pace, and we'd wish for life to end. But when you have a friend that's true, life really flows along. His thoughtfulness will see you through, and nothing will go wrong.

Always There

I see the fallen yellow, rust and brown Leaves who warn of a new season, but Promise to return again soon.

I see the bare and lonely trees who Stand tall and strong, and sway Just a little from the winds of The cruel north.

I see the abundant geese on their way home While honking a sorrowful yet intriguing call Which lingers in my mind.

I see the squirrels with a change of dress Busily gathering winter food and Preparing themselves and families for another winter.

I see the breeze swishing the leaves on the street,

And with it I hear your voice. Faint, but there.

And as my mind returns to reality I Know that all nature round me is you, Always there to feel, Always there to notice and love.

It may exist, thank God, Forever, If man, to keep it, tries, Pray this remains our lifelong endeavour, Or our wildlife dies.

For That Is Life

A life has begun No matter How small How insignificant It is never Too tiny To be capable Of accomplishment. And like a chick Breaking through Its shell, We have difficulties, Yet we persist. We have opposition to smash And we do. And we are sometimes Unable to see light Yet we find it. And we are sometimes threatened Yet we live. If a creature So small So tiny Can overcome these, What can we do? We push on, For that is life.

Strange Flights

"Time to go to bed Timothy!"

"Ah Mom! Must I?" Timmy wrinkled his frecked little nose in dismay.

"It's not even eight o'clock." But unfortunately Timmy lost out to his mother and slowly he trudged up the stairs to his room. After his mother tucked him into bed, he had a wonderful thought.

"I should like to go to the other side of the world where there is sun right now!" he decided. He crept over to his dresser, picked up his flashlight, went over to his closet and started looking at his map of the world which was pinned up on his wall.

"I guess I'll go to Australia." the answer came sleepily. He turned off his flashlight, and went back to bed.

BUZZ - BUZZ - BUZZ

What was that? Timmy awoke with a start! He jumped out of bed and ran towards the window. To his horror, flying just below his window was a giant bee!

"Buzz, Buzz, come with me and you shall see Australia," the bee said to the terrified Timmy. Poor Timmy, in his horror he didn't think anything of climbing onto the bee's back. Off they flew. After an hour of this Timmy began to get tired. When were they going to arrive? But, unfortunately when Timmy asked the bee, all the bee said was to be quiet. After a while Timmy began to feel sleepy, very sleepy, and then he was falling! Timmy began to scream! Then all of a sudden great bursts of light filled the darkness. A steady hand shook him, and he opened his eyes to find his father! He was standing in his own room again!

"If it was really a dream, it sure seemed real! " Timmy told his dad as he got into bed for the second time that night.

Snow!

I love snow. Snow makes many changes on the land around it and the people. The sidewalks turn a fleecy white colour, with soft powdery snow just like a pillow. The houses are like white muffins covered with trimmings. Trees are covered with gleaming snow. Only their roots in the ground keep them warm. Still the ground is cold so I don't know how they manage through the unpredictable winter. The sky turns an ugly grey colour and all life seems to turn dead. The clouds don't seem to be moving as much as they do in the summer. Everything is cold, dead, and frozen.

The Scary Game Of Tag

One night I was walking home from my friend's house and I saw a witch starting to come towards me. I turned and ran! You can't imagine how scared I was. She was on a broom-stick, so I had to run very fast. I tripped, and she gained on me.

Finally, when she was just behind me I knew I couldn't run any more, I gave up all hope of beating her home.

She slowly came towards me and she touched me with her bony finger. A shiver of fright ran down my back. Then she said, "Tag, you're it."

Watch Out! Danger!

Tao ran ahead, the two dogs stared in disbelief that after the long trek in the valley, in the bush, he was still full of PEP!

"Unbelievable! " barked Luath, as he watched the cat run.

"Yes very," wise Old Bodger replied.

Tao ran back. "What's up?" Tao asked, "You're stalling."

"No we're not," Luath said, lying down.

"Then let's go up the mountain where the sweet flowers and grass are. There is good shelter, too! "Tao cried.

"Sure! We need all that!" Luath cried, jumping up ready for another long trek.

"I don't think it would be wise to go," replied Old Bodger.

"Why, it looks perfectly safe! "Tao replied.

"Yes, for you. You're a small build. But us, we are much bigger than you. The path is quite small. Besides there are loose rocks," Old Bodger said wisely.

"I'm going." said Tao.
"Me, too." Luath barked.

"I guess I'll go, too:" Old Bodger replied. So the trio started off. A few rocks fell, but not any on the trio. The animals found the path was ended. There was a huge gap in the path. Tao could jump but the dogs couldn't. There was a ledge that led up to the path. Tao jumped. He made it! Old Bodger was fearful he would fall. Luath tried. He made a good jump but missed. He fell on a bottom ledge. Luath started howling, Tao started crying, and Old Bodger started howling, too. Then along came a young man with a ladder. When he heard and saw what was happening he put his ladder on the ledge and tied a piece of rope to a tree and Luath, then took him up where the others were. He fed all of them, then said good - bye and went on his way. Luath stayed behind and with a tear in his eye, watched the man until he couldn't see him anymore.

Once the horse ran swift and free Over the grass and under the trees Their tails flowing, their eyes ablaze They roamed this land for days and days.

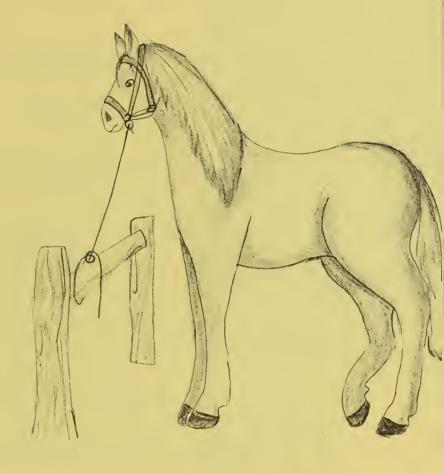

When man appeared upon the earth And pulled the rein, and tightened the girth The horses fled very far away Then what could man say?

Some say the horses died of thirst And others say that they were cursed But whatever was the reason They left that very season

But I know where the horses have gone Beyond the sunset, beyond the dawn A land of swaying green fields Where their paths never yield

For they are the waves of our seas Running wild and fancy free And there they'll live forever and a day No matter what some men say.

A Page in My Diary

Yesterday I stood beneath your window and played for you. A love song of my very own creation; but you never looked down or gave any sign that you ever noticed I was there So, I took to writing notes on slips of papers and magically turning into tiny DC 10's sailed them through your window, but although my tiny airborne invitations for love were signed R.S.V.P. you never flew one back So. I decided that perhaps I had bombarded you enough and that maybe today I would have to just sit on your lawn amidst your clover blossoms and dandelions and wait for you to come out and in pondering the words you might say as we met I realized that if you were to tell me today that you didn't love me... I would simply wait until tomorrow.

I wonder many people would stop think about this question about this question. wonder how many people be able to answer it. would Thousands of words can describe Brotrerhood, and thousands of scople can make it. Native people white people, Christian people, Jewish people all sorts of people make up the world. Love and Peace are words that keep our together. But in some ways they have failed. Children starve, people fight and in parts of the world hate has overcome us. In our nowaday language thate is such a common word. I've heard children say they hate people just because they might have a big mose or they're ugly. Does it matter if a person is ugly on the outside? Only the inside matters of a person has love and somes, how can we hate him? I shiver to think of people who are like this. Dreams

Dreams are fascinating, Full of wondrous sight. They're usually so interesting, So gay, so happy, and bright

But sometimes I have nightmares With creepy crawly things, Like skeletons and witch's hats And bats with gigantic wings.

In my dreams I wonder Who it was that looked for me, And then disappears. And who it was that cooked for me.

Once upon a time a king had to take care of a queen. She was sick with a cold. The king was too lazy to get up and sick of taking care of her. She was very strict. He sat down in his chair, thinking of what he should do.

"Ah I know what! I should make a robot." said the king. The king fixed him up. The queen said, "Would you please help! I need something. Hurry up, I am suffering. Help! "The robot king went up the stairs and he helped the queen as fast as he could. Two days after that she got better. The king was pleased. He had great days and lovely, long hours of sleep. Lucky!! Now he relaxed every time the queen got sick.

LOOKING BACK

I was in tears - "I don't WANT to go to school! "... Tears again - "It's over too soon!"

There is a long time between the first day of Nursery School and the last day of Grade Twelve. It's interesting to look back at the changes which took place while I was at Balmoral Hall and to wonder what might be in store for the future.

Some of the most striking changes have been to the grounds, with the appearance of new buildings and the disappearance of others. One of my most exciting days of Nursery School was when our teacher took us to see where our Kindergarten room would be in the new building - Dalton House (at that point invaded by painters). Richardson Hall was the next addition. Imagine, before that, the whole school used the gym in the Junior School for assemblies, drama productions, gym classes, concerts, and anything else that required a large room! Until a few years ago, two old houses stood on the corner of Langside and Westminster. After they had been torn down we could finally play baseball without worrying about broken windows.

When I was in Grade Two, the uniform was changed. Until then we had worn gray tunics with the school crest on the front, gray blouses and green knee-highs. On special occasions and on Fridays we wore white blouses. The summer uniform was a green and white gingham dress, which would have made very nice kitchen curtains! I'm sure we looked very smart, but the new kilt was certainly welcomed. I remember very clearly that it was to be no more than two inches from the floor when kneeling. This rule was eventually relaxed, and during my last year pants were introduced.

There are some changes which I am sure are the same for each girl as she progresses through the school. At first there is the excitement of going to a new school, making friends, and becoming part of Balmoral Hall. Then each September moving to a new classroom with a different teacher and another year filled with things to do. One of the biggest changes is jumping from the Junior School into the Senior School. All of a sudden you are at the beginning again, surrounded by "big kids"! But that feeling doesn't last long, and soon you realize that you are a "big kid," too! Finally comes the responsibility of being at the head of the school - Grade Twelve, it's hard to believe that it's over.

I hope you'll be able to look back, too, and remember all the good times you had at Balmoral Hall, what the school gave you, and what you gave it in return.

Girls' school sweeps top JA awards

By Darlene Meakin Tribune Business Writer

For the girls at Balmoral Hall School, excelling seems to come naturally.

When 11 students from Grades 9 to 12 formed the first Junior Achievement company at their private girls' school they didn't turn in a second-best performance.

Instead, they managed to capture three awards, including Best Company of the Year award.

Balmoral Hall's creation — Wilbur Co. — also had top sales of the year and its advisor, Powell Equipment Ltd., was named best advisor of the year.

Not only was this the first time that the school has been involved in JA, it also was the first all-girl company, merchandized an existing product for the first time, and also for the first time formed a company solely from the students of one school.

Wilbur Co. originally began as a manufacturer of plastic goods. But when the company ran into problems getting raw materials the members decided to switch courses, said Janet Murdoch, company president and a Grade 12 student.

Besides, she said, merchandising sounded more exciting. The board of directors decided Wilbur Co. would handle home entertainment equipment including stereos, components, tape recorders, stereo accessories, calculators and even color TV sets.

As orders for merchandise came in Wilbur Co. ordered the necessary products from a local wholesaler, said Miss Murdoch.

The biggest push for Wilbur Co. came during the JA trade fair which was held in Polo Park at the end of January. But many of the sales were also made through personal contact.

Total sales for the company rang up to $2,280. The returns from selling home entertainment equipment are greater than they are from selling T-shirts or leather belts, said Miss Murdoch. But it's also harder to sell a stereo.

Although Balmoral Hall was the first to try merchandising this year there will probably be many more JA companies trying merchandising next year, Miss Murdoch said.

The Junior Achievement Week begins the first week in October and winds up the last week in April.

President's Report

The girls from the Senior School at Balmoral Hall started into the business world this year with their own company in Junior Achievement.

Our company, affectionately named after the Grade 12 scapegoat - Wilbur, was not only educational but lots of fun.

It all started in October, with our first meeting, the election of officers and the naming of our company.

Throughout the year we took in such events as the Annual Trade Fair at Polo Park and the Future Unlimited Banquet at the Winnipeg Inn.

After selling a large number of stocks to finance our company, we started headlong into a year of selling sound equipment. Our efforts were well rewarded with a Top Sales award, a number of High Sales Certificates, an Advisors of the Year award and the most coveted award, that of Company of the Year.

As president of Wilbur and Co. I would like to thank my entire company, who worked diligently all year, my executive for their firm support and our advisors for all their help.

After only one year in Junior Achievement the girls from Balmoral Hall have again proven themselves worthy. And I trust they will continue to do so.

Good luck, to the Wilbur & Co., of next year.

Choir Report

This year has been a busy year for the senior choir. We have participated in many school functions such as; The Christmas concert, which was held at All Saints Anglican Church. Although there was a raging blizzard outside. those that made it enjoyed the performance.

The second big activity during the year was the May Day presentation. Our choir performed a small musical called "Joseph", which included pantomime. The following people had lead roles: Marny Edwards as Jacob; Marilyn Law as Joseph; and Wendy Theodore as Pharoah. The director of the pantomime was Fiona Sanders. We performed twice as always, once for the fathers and once for the mothers. We are assured that our performance was thoroughly enjoyed by both audiences.

Our third big activity was graduation. The Choir sang at the Westminster Church and Joy Tennant, a grade 12 graduate sang a solo while being accompanied by the choir. This was a very memorable occasion and we hope that we gave the grade twelves a nice farewell.

During the year we also sang in an assembly at our school.

Throughout the year we have been under the direction of Mrs. Neufeld, our music teacher. We have had a council for the choir which included; Tracy Maconachie, Mary Grace Ashdown; Wendy Theodore and Marilyn Law (Choir President).

As a whole, this has been an exciting and busy year for the senior choir.

Thank you Mrs. Neufeld.

Ski Day

Drama

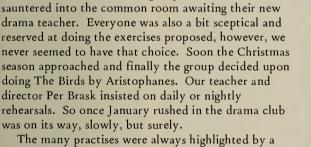

The many practises were always highlighted by a good joke plus a common laughing fit of one or two people which eventually included the whole cast. I think that our most comical rehearsal had to be when the masks were being used for the first time. (Remember Biddy?)

As the first term set in a group of uncertain students

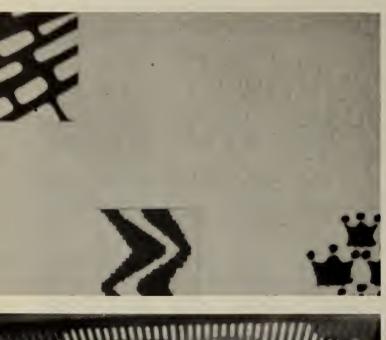

However, the play ran quite smoothly thanks to Per's expert advice, acting and kindness. Many a time we were all sure that he would suffer from a breakdown. Hearing the opinions of the students in drama, they thought Per to be our most intelligent, creative and hard working, drama teacher there ever was at Balmoral. We will all miss you next year, but are glad to have within us the experience and knowledge gained in our 75-76 season.

To Mrs. Theodore Dean of Residence

Allergies, colds, sniffles and the flu, You were there when needed, And you helped us see them through. Vitamins and gravol, medicines and other cures,

All helped us feel better, but not as much as that smile of yours.
Encouragement you gave,
When times were getting rough,
Like during exams and all the other stuff.

When pleased you'd smile, And annoyed you'd frown, And when we'd make you angry; You'd get mad and blow your crown! We thank you for everything done, All things big and small, Like making us mop the floor, And get rid of the big dog in the hall. The things that you put up with, My stars, you never complained, Like the ducklings and the gerbil, And the cat found in the lane. But despite this you understood, Like the problems you helped solve, And trying to make us be good. We stuck it together, And we all made it through; The good, the bad and ugly, We all went through with you.

Now that it is all going to end, We all thank you for the year.

Sports

An Anonymous Report

A whole school year cannot be complete without a comment on sports which accounts for almost two thirds of a student's time spent in school. To everyone's first image, sports means running, jumping or exertion of some sort of moving activity. However, sports also means the hours spent behind the scenes on organizaing and deciding what is to be performed. As a student I witnessed many an impormtu meeting to finalize previous arrangements made by Jane Dennis, our enthusiastic Sports Captain, and by Mrs. Harper.

As with every school there were many grumbles when ordered to get changed and enter the gym. But soon the complaints vanished. Why? Because the exercise, responsibility, and comradeship all helped to develop better minds and bodies. When you think back now our spirit flourished due to sports activities and extra-curricular activities.

Our Sports Captain worked diligently along with the house heads to develop an interesting and varied program. Thanks goes to you all. And if we appear not to appreciate your efforts, it really is our false mask, hiding our real enjoyment when we participated.

Basketball Report

This year went by quite quickly as soon as the basketballs came out. Twice and even three times a week you could find the Senior Blazers tied up in a skipping rope or a tensor, whatever the case may be.

To an observer this menagerie of girls may have looked like a first aid meeting, instead of a basketball practice, but underneath the band-aids, tensors and bad knees there were ten eager girls willing to attempt a lay-up on a one-on-one situation.

We were a new team this year with only a few old members, so our main objective was to have fun and learn something about the sport. This way we hoped to build a strong team for the coming year. Under the supervision of our coach Kerry Klaustermann, we came alive and started to look like a team! We made it to the semi-finals and in the last few minutes of the game we panicked and lost. It was a battle all the way through!

I think this year the team had spirit, skill, and even more amazing we got along! One thing we did lack was confidence in ourselves. Once in a while you could hear a shriek "I can't do this!" or "what do I do now?" and "but they're so much bigger!" and then we gave up. I believe this was the main fault of our team as well as the one that held us back from being number one. Next year walk on the court as if you had the game in the bag and you'll scare the other team. Who knows, maybe they'll concede! Remember it's all psychological!

We did have a good year, all in all. With the trips to McDonalds and going to the wrong school for a game this basketball season will be remembered for a long time.

Many thanks to Kerry for his time, his effort, and last but not least taking us to McDonalds.

Good Luck Next Year!

Volleyball Report

Throughout the volleyball season with our many coaches it is amazing that we managed to stay on our feet.

We made it to the semi-finals but unfortunately lost out to an exceptionally well playing team who went on to win the championship.

Our team had great enthusiasm and played well together. Although we lacked support we were very proud to represent Balmoral Hall.

We would like to thank our fellow team members, who put up with us when there was no coach available. Our many coaches; Moe, Diane, Mr. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Neville and Olympic team members who gave of their time to help us extend our knowledge and skills throughout the volleyball season. So once again, thanks for everything you have done, especially for being understanding friends.

Yours truly,

Dear Glen Gairns,

The year has gone so fast, and it has been said that when time flies by at such a rapid pace, one forgets many important events that have occurred in his or her life. As I think back in time I remember experiences that occurred in those Monday and Wednesday house games. These experiences shall never be forgotten.

It seems like just yesterday that I stood in front of all the Glen Gairns and was so unorganized. Things didn't change much throughout the year as far as the organization of the meetings went, but as the weeks went by, I noticed every Glen Gairn become more and more involved in participating in sports and helping Glen Gairn remain full of spirit.

I would like to thank Jane and Wendy for helping me throughout the year. Also thanks to the rest of the Glen Gairns for being so great.

Hopefully next year will be better for Glen Gairn and who knows, maybe Pooh will be famous some day. Good luck next year to you all.

Alumnae News

This June, the presentation of silver spoons to the Grade XII graduates, at a Tea held in their honor was more significant than other years. The reason for this being that 1976 is the SILVER ANNIVERSARY of Balmoral Hall.

Also honored on this occasion was Miss Nellie Lucas, who after thirty-eight years of service to the school and constant enterest in the Alumns, was presented with the Honorary Membership to the Alumnae Association, and a Georgian serving spoon with the Balmoral Hall crest on it. This gift is a token of the high regard and affection in which Miss Lucas is held on behalf of hundreds of former students and Alumnae members. Miss Lucas will continue her relationship with the school, by becoming 'THE SECRETARY' for what we hope will become once again a flourishing Alumnae Association, equal to the growth of our fine school.

To the graduates, and Miss Lucas, God's speed and good health!

Mr. Kenney, Honored Guests, Grads, Friends of the School and Fellow Students - boys and girls: Beginning in September, we counted the months. From Christmas time, the months changed to weeks. All during May we've been counting the days until our graduation. And now, finally, this is our very last day of high school.

Of course, we all have different feelings about leaving. We're happy to be leaving, but at the same time we will be leaving dear friends, some of whom we will never see again.

For those of us who have been living in Residence, Balmoral Hall has been home for a year. We've all had good times - we've had some bad times. Without the love and support from our parents, friends and teachers many of us would have given up long ago. We know that without them, we never would have made it, and we deeply appreciate all they have done for us. Was it all worth it? Only time will tell.

And now, for those of you who will be coming back next year, you might take advice from me (because a graduate should know what she's talking about!) - if you do go to school for whatever reason, you may as well make the most of it, because it's true that the more you contribute to your school the more benefit will be received from the time spent there. Remember that you can do a lot of good if you don't care who gets the credit. Actually the most gratifying reward that you can receive is knowing that you've done your job well... that you've done the very best that you can do.

And now, since one of my teachers who shall remain unnamed threatened to leave and go down to the Fibre Arts room and do her weaving if I ran on more than five minutes, I shall quickly conclude. To Balmoral Hall - Farewell - the best of luck! We'll never forget you.
